H -WHEELING, VA :-TBURSDAY MORNING, JULY 19, 1855.

D'It is reported that Mr. Caleb Clushing desires the appointment of Minister to Ragland, in place of Mr. Buchanan, who intends to tesign the place on the 1st of October. Mr. James Lyons of Va., is spoken of as the successor of Mr. Cushing as Attorney General;

The suit of Carland vs. Booth in the matter of the fugitive stave, Glover, which excited so much feeling in the spring of 1854 at Milwaukie and claewhere. The case went to the jury on Saturday evening, and the verdict was given of $1000 for the plaintiff. Booth, editor of the Democrat, helped the slave into Canada after he had been

The Louisville Confer Josularly announces the release of the City Council from durance vile, as follows:

Raily on yesterday a streak of lightning from the Court of Appeals, at (Frankfort, struck the front door of Castle Thomas, knocking it wide open, and set free the six or keven imprisoned Council-

The Court of Appeals decided that they could give the bond of the city, and not their individual bends, and appeal in the name of the city from the decision of Judge Bullock.

A WIFE AS WAS A WIFE .- The New York Post tells a story of a merchant in that city who, when first married, told his wife that for every scion she produced he would place at her disposal $3,000. After a lapse of years he failed, and upon informing his wife of his embarrassments, she quickly placed in his hands bonds to the amount of $30,-000, as the products of her industry, remarking at the same time, "You'see, Charles, that I have not been idle; and if you had been as industrious as your brother over the way, I should now have

PRE-PAYMENT OF POSTAGE. - The regulations of the Post Office Department require Postmusters to forward, as addressed, all post paid letters to which a three cent stamp, or a greater fraction of the postage due upon them, may be offixed, even though they may be addressed to California; but to treat letters on which a cent stamp is affixed as if they were wholly unpaid. With reference to the practice of failing to prepay letters, the N. Y. Conrier and Enquirer says:

"Complaints are frequently made of the failure of tetters to reach their destination; but it will be fougd that generally the failure or delay arises from the errors or want of caution on the part of the writers. We frequently receive letters from places having names similar to towns in other States, and without the particular State being named in which the writer lives. This is even a frequent fault among bankers, who should of all classes, be explicit in their address. We observe among the advertised letters at Buffalo, retained for want of prepayment of postage, letters for one of the banks in this city. This is no doubt a frequent neglect, and too much caution cannot be observed in having the writer's carl or aiddess distinctly printed on his envelopes, so that in case the postage is accidentally not prepaid, the postmaster may know whom to notify of the omis-

EXLISTING TROOPS FOR THE CRIMEA AT CINCIN-NATI .- In the cose at Cincinnati of enlisting troops for the Crimea, the Commissioner on Saturday held Consul Rowecraft in bonds of $2,000; Trumbult and Hamilton in $1,000 each and Capt. Poshner on his own recognizance, to appear before United States Court to answer to the charge. McKay, the sgent of the British Government, was too sick to appear before the Commissioner. The parties gave the required security.

The Concurnati Gazette of Monday says:

That a system has been in operation in various That a system has been in operation in various parts of this country for obtaining recruits for the littish army in the Crimea, his not for some weeks past been doubted; and the facts disclosed during the examination before the U. S. Commissioner, in this city, show that enlistments or engagements were made in this city without any great effort on the part of those persons who acted for the British government to conceal the facts from the multic. It could hardly have been expected the public. It could hardly have been expected that with so many applications at the house of the British Consul, the government officers would not he approved of the facts. The act may, therefore, be regarded as an open, and to a great extent, featless violation of National Low; and the cisive steps should at once be taken to check it. To tender measures for this purpose effectual, it will hardly be considered necessary, by the public at least, to enlist the services of men who willingly conspire, make false statements, and even receive money from the British agents for the purpose of entrapping them. If such men are willing to let themselves down to the very lowest depths of degradation, the government should not encourage them in their work of self-abasement. would not have required any extraordinary vigi-lence on the part of the United States officers to have obtained sufficient information without the sid of informers, to have placed the British agents in their present position.

It is impossible to say how many men have been forwarded from this city to Canada by the British agent. From New York, Hoston, and Philadelphis, it is estimated that thirteen hundred have been collected.

The New Hampshire Legislature adjourned on the 14th inst., after passing the strong antislavery resolutions offered last week by Mr. Tappan. The prominent acts of the session have been the remodelling of the Judiciary and a consequent change of all the judges; the re-districting of the State Senatorial districts; and the passuge of a prohibitory law.

DIPLOMATIC APPOINTMENT .-- The Washington "Stat" states that Rogen A. Payon, Esq., asistant Editor of the Richmond Enquirer, has bad conferred upon him "a special mission to Greece, charged with the duty, if possible, of settling the difficulty between the two Gevernments with refence to Dr. King." It is further stated that Mr. Pryor will depart for Greece in the steamer of the

A MATE FOR TAN O'SHANTER'S MARE .- At Newton Upper Palls, yesterday, says the Boston Atlas, a cow, while quietly grazing beneath a revolving shaft, about six feet from the ground, connecting two buildings at l'ettee's machine shop, got the end of her tail entangled, and began to wind up. Poor Mooly becoming aware of trouble in the camp, made a vigorous spring, which dissolved her connection with the treacherous iron. leaving her with a stump only about six inches

Lusus Natura...—Robert Pobbing, of Henrico county, (Va.) has a double heated duck, which was hatched at his residence a few days since...—The little creature is now dead, but preserved in alcohol for future exhibition, It also has two perfect necks, and eyes enough for another of its kind. We have never heard of so many extraordinary freaks of nature among the featery tribe as, have taken place this season.

DEMOGRATIC INFLINENT—Mrs. Huffmon, of Page county, Virginia, has named her three boys, which recently made their advent at the same time, after Wise, Faulkner and Spittler. The first and second of these names will be recognized by the public of the delegate.

WEST POINT ACADEMY .- Many applications for admission to this Institution are rejected, and for tie information of parents and others, the &. Y.

Journal states: "The fact is, that the highest degree of physiall vigor is requisite to bear up under the ricorous discipline of West Point. The students are on that 17 hours out of the 241 for relevation is as strictly prescribed as labor; and implicit obedience to authority is the duty of the relater. They are liged to spend 7 hours, from 10 to 5, in bed with t lights. The rigid discipline of the Institution has the best effect on those who have the strength has the best effect on those who have the strength to hear it. It is found to be promotive of health, cheerfulness and mental vigor. It can never in any degree be relaxed in layor of the weak; for the country is indressed to exclude that class, as incompetent for the services which is proposes to require of those there educated. The object of the institution is to train for their country's service, those on whom it can take in expensive says. rice, those on whom it can tely in exigencies and danger. Let none but those who have exhibited indications of peculiar promise be encouraged to aspire to that exalted brotherhood. Failure and d sinissal assuredly await all who, for the want of hea th, preparation, or ability, are unequal to meet

Mr. Daniel Buffington and his wife, who were in the chamber over Mr. Tucker's, also received no injury. Shortly before the explusion, Mrs. B. heard a person about the house. She got up, but saw no one. There are various stories in circulation as to the cause of this fiendish enormity, but they are all without foundation. Mr. Tucker informed us that he has not the slightest suspicion of any one, and that the whole transaction is as inexplicable to him as to any other person.—Providence (R. I.)

A Porr's Residence.—There is a queet looking edifice fronting on Park Place below George street, the design and object of which would sadly puzzle the it quisitive stranger. It is a stuccoul house of one story, apparently 10 feel between the joints, with three long windows in front, dead fails on each side, and no door way visible. This queer structure is the residence of the poet, James G. Percival, whose morbid dread of mortality, or subser of the society of his fellow men, has been rather of the society of his fellow men, has been gratified in the style hisofmansion. The entrance in the teat of the house, approachable by a path

Dickens as a Reform Orator.

The London Correspondent of the New York Courier graphically sketches Dickens on the occasion of his first appearance in the political arena; On Wednesday evening, the Administration Re-form Association held another monster meeting at Druty Lane. The assembly way, if possible, larger and more enthusiastic than on the former occasion. It is difficult to tell how much of this enthusiasm is due to the cause, and how much to the popuis due to the cause, and now much to the popularity of the distinguished individuals who furnish the public with a free entertainment. Still, though it may be true that every seat in Drury Lane Theatre would be quickly filled if it was understood that Charles Dickens was to speak on any subject whatever—the hair-powder tax—or anything else in heaven, earth, or the waters beneath—the mea-In heaven, earth, or the waters beneath—the measure cannot but gain immensely in popularity, when such a man makes "his first appearance at a political meeting," to give to the measure his cordial support. Nor will you be surprised to learn, considering the attraction of the evening, that ladies became administrative reformers, and mustered in great strength in boxes, galleries and pit. Dickens on the platform was the same as Dickens, the platform was the same as Dickens. at home—sometimes so witty in that peculiar irresistible Dickensystyle, that he was bardly alirresistible Dickensy style, that he was hardly allowed to leap along, a clause at a time, between laughter and cheers, sometimes turning up a new side of the subject to the light of a strong. English common sense, and carrying all with him down the flow of a strong English fe ling. It is not in Dickens' line to arrive, but fortunately Administrative Reform needs no arguing, and just such heaping up of tidicule and indignation on the heads, shoulders, and backs of all jobbers, imbecile lordings, official drones, and "men of large families," who oppose Administrative Reform, is what they deserve, and what will help to send them where they deserve to be. As a speaksend them where they deserve to be. As a speak er, Mr. Dickens was quite successful-a little stiff and dandyish in his well of ed hair, his moustache, and his elaborate dress, and a little too plainly letting it out that he was repeating from memory a well-conned performance; but happy in voice ntterance and manner; on the whole, surpassing as a speaker his rival in literature-Sir Edward Bulwer Lytton.

Parseaning Faurts. - In several previous numhers of the Home Magazine we have referred to Dr. Arthur's "Self-Sealing Cans and Glass Jats" as affording the readiest facility for doing what is proposed. They are made with a channel around the mouth, into which a cover his loosely. Into this channel a very adhesive cene it is noticed and allowed to harden. Thus prepared for sealing, the cans and jars are sold, and the housekeeper, after filling her vessels and applying the heat, has only to warm the cover and press it down into the cement, when the work of scaling is done. These vessels can be used year after year, and, as the cover goes over the whole top, may be as perfectly cleansed as any other open vessel.

As the fruit season has now commenced, housekeepers should by all means try some of these cans keepers should by all means try some of these cans and prove them to their own satisfaction. At small cost and trouble they may now have fresh or siewed fruits or tomators on their tables all next winter, and at summer prices. The method of putting ier, and at summer prices. The method of potting up fruits in this way we will briefly give:

Fill the can or jar with ripe fruit, adding a little sugar, simply enough to render, the fruit palatable, and set in a vessel of water, (warm or cold.) Let the water boil, and continue builting until the fruit is well heated through—say for half an hour,— Direction has been given simply to let the water boil, but such direction is defective, as at this time the fruit in the centre of the vessel will be scarcely wanned. Should the vessel be then scarcely warned. Should the vessel be then sealed fermentation will take place. The heat must thoroughly penetrate the contents of the vessel. As soon as the fruit is sufficiently heated, werm the cover, press it into its place, and the vestel is the search of the sea work is done.

Another way is to make a syrup of 2 lbs. sugar Another way is to make a sytup of 2 los, and if for every 6 lbs, of finit, using half a pint ofwater for every pound of sugar. Skim the sytup as soon as it boils, and then put in your fruit and left boil ten minutes. Fill the cans or jars and seal up hot. Some make a sytup of balf a pound of sugar to every pound of finit, and some use a quarter of a pound of sugar to a pound of fruit, white some use no sugar at all.

To keep peaches, pare one out them up. If thrown into cold water they will retain their fituness and color. Heat them in the caus or jars as above, or boil them ten minutes in a syrup. In this way strawberries, raspberries, chernes, plans, peaches, &c. may be kept for any tength of time in the same condition that they were sealed, and with flavor unchanged. For small four makes with flavor unchanged. For snatt front make a syrup without water, and boil the fruit in it for

Presh stewed fruits of all kinds may be kept in these vessels. It will only be necessary to stew the fruit as for the table, adding the amount of suther the table. gar required to make it palatable; fill up the vesset with the hot fruit and seat at once. All tipe fruits preserved in this way will be found as fresh in the winter season as it just taken from the tree and stewed. Take off the skin; put them in a

Count in Houses,—It is said that the small branches of cedar chopped flue and mixed with their grain will core a cough, and it has been used with complete success.

THE TOMATO.-T. Jefferson Randolf, in an aildress before the Agricultural Society of Albemarie county, Va., lately delivered, stated that Mr. Jef-ferson could recollect when the tomato was culliis in the rear of the house, approachable by a path which his unifrequent footsteps has hardly worn in the turf. The chief object of the building seems to have been to secure a safe place for his valuable library, which is arranged in a large library come occupying the chire front of the building. The comforts of a home are apparently incidental to the safety of this library, and are provided for in mole relified rooms in the tear of the house. At this place, Mr. Percival, when not employed abroad, may enjoy all the solitude of a recluse, and, shut up with his cherished books, forget the world which so much versels his secliption from it.

arA Boston letter says:—Our city is likely to be the defendant in a very queer suit. The friends of Mr. Albert Summer, of Stoughton, contemplate brineing an action for damages, he having been killed on Congress street on the night of the 4th.—When returning from the freworks with a large na'ty, a bunch of crackers was thrown under the feet of his horses, by which the animals were greatly frightened, crusing the death of the driver. The opinion is that, by the terms of the city government's proclamation, it allowed the neople to infringe the law, and coss quently is liable, for all the damage that ensued from such infringement. The point would seem to be a nice one. Mr. Summer was formerly a driver on the old Boston Providence road before the railway, was contemplated, and will be remembered by those who used to "stop to take something" at Polly's.

THE subscribes nowoffers to the public a new style of picture, Lar superior to the public a new style of picture, Lar superior to the Daguerrootype, made in Wheeling daily at his establishment. They are termed AMBROTYPES, the process for which is patiented in the United States, Great Britain and France These pictures are the most beautiful and truthful ever produced by the Photographic ast. The exceeding freeness, depth of light and shade, and richness of tone is wonderful. They do not reverse the subject, but represent everything in its true position.—They are without the glare of a dagaerreotype, may be seen in any view, and will last for age unchanged, being IMPERISHABLE, hence the name, Ambrotype, which signifies indestructionity. The picture is fashen on plain glass, to which another plate of corresponding size is secured with an indestructible cement by which the picture will retain its original hrillancy for ages; it will not corrode by acids nor, be injured by water or climble.

Ambrotype Tencorcopes must be seen to be appreciated the relief is as perfect as life.
Daguerrentypes taken at reduced prices. Ladies and genilemen are invited to call and examine my gatory.
